SUBJECT : Hagelin Negotiations

Reference: T/S Memo, 4 Feb 1954, on same subject.

1. In Paragraph 2 of the reference it was indicated that both Mr. Hagelin and the Director, National Security Agency thought that a period of about six months, to be devoted to further study and consideration of the various factors discussed, would be mutually desirable. That period was to terminate on 30 June 1954.

2. In connection with this period of study, we were to ascertain what practical arrangements could be made for procuring M-209 machines from the U.S. Signal Corps, and for selling them to Mr. Hagelin, if and when he desired them.

EO 3.3(h)(2)
PL 86-36/50 USC 3605

3. In a discussion of the matter on 14 June 1954, USCIB decided (a) not to sell any M-209's to Mr. Hagelin and (b) that the Director, National Security Agency was to inform Mr. Hagelin of the Board's inability to provide him with these devices. It was suggested by USCIB that the Director, NSA might wish to state that action such as desired was prohibited by legal technicalities.
