Dear Professor Milligan:

Back in 1948 we had some correspondence with reference to the late Professor Galland's bibliography of literature on the Shakespeare-Bacon controversy. You were kind enough to let me keep the carbon copy of his manuscript and I have recently again been examining it with much interest.

I am writing now to ask whether the manuscript was ever published and, if not, what is the current situation in regard to its publication. So much thought and scholarly labor went into the preparation of the manuscript that it would be regrettable if nothing came of Galland's extensive research in that field.

With cordial greetings, and best wishes for the New Year,
I am,

Sincerely,

WILLIAM P. FRIEDMAN
