Mr. Donald A. Quarles
Assistant Secretary of Defense (R/D)
The Pentagon

Dear Mr. Quarles:

The next meeting of the National Security Agency Scientific Advisory Board is planned for Tuesday and Wednesday, 20-21 April 1954, commencing at 1000, at the Naval Security Station, 3801 Nebraska Avenue, N. W. Washington.

Your participation in the deliberations of the Board during the entire session would be most helpful, but I can readily understand that you may not be able to attend the meetings on both days.

The agenda for the meeting will probably be sent to you later. At this time, however, I would appreciate your advising me of any items you would like placed on the agenda.

Sincerely,

5

WILLIAM F. FRIEDMAN
Executive Secretary
NSA Scientific Advisory Board
